Specification Assessment of Machine learning classification performance

Scope/ Abstract TS This document specifies methodologies for measuring classification performance of machine learning models, systems and algorithms.

Full text Foreword
ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) and IEC (the International Electrotechnical Commission) form the specialized system for worldwide standardization. National bodies that are members of ISO or IEC participate in the development of International Standards through technical committees

Specification Data quality measures

Scope/ Abstract This document specifies a data quality model, data quality measures and guidance on reporting data quality in the context of analytics and machine learning (ML).
This document is applicable to all types of organizations who want to achieve their data quality objectives

Specification AI System life cycle processes

Scope/ Abstract This document defines a set of processes and associated concepts for describing the life cycle of AI systems based on machine learning and heuristic systems. It is based on ISO/IEC/IEEE 15288 and ISO/IEC/IEEE 12207 with modifications and additions of AI-specific processes from

Full text Foreword
ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) and IEC (the International Electrotechnical Commission) form the specialized system for worldwide standardization. National bodies that are members of ISO or IEC participate in the development of International Standards through technical committees

Specification Guidance for AI application

Scope/ Abstract This document provides guidance for identifying the context, opportunities and processes for developing and applying AI applications. The guidance provides a macro-level view of the AI application context, the stakeholders and their roles, relationships to the life cycle of the system, and common AI

Full text Foreword
ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) and IEC (the International Electrotechnical Commission) form the specialized system for worldwide standardization. National bodies that are members of ISO or IEC participate in the development of International Standards through technical committees

Specification: Reference architecture of knowledge engineeering

Scope/ Abstract: This document defines a reference architecture of knowledge engineering (KE) in artificial intelligence (AI). The reference architecture describes KE roles, activities, constructional layers, components and their relationships amongst themselves and other systems from systemic user

Full text: Knowledge-driven AI applications have gradually gained attention. In knowledge engineering (KE), knowledge is automatically or semi-automatically acquired from information sources, which in turn are generated by processing huge-scale multi-source heterogeneous data. The knowledge is integrated into knowledge-based systems and used to provide intelligent knowledge-driven services. One of the objectives

Scope/ Abstract This document describes the properties, related risk factors, available methods and processes relating to:
— use of AI inside a safety related function to realize the functionality;
— use of non-AI safety related functions to ensure safety for

Full text Foreword
ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) and IEC (the International Electrotechnical Commission) form the specialized system for worldwide standardization. National bodies that are members of ISO or IEC participate in the development of International Standards through technical committees

12182 - [ ] : 2015 ISO/IEC TR :(SC 7)

Specification Framework for categorization of IT systems and software, and guide for applying it

Scope/ Abstract This TR specifies the manner in which categorizations of IT systems and software are organized and expressed

Full text Foreword
ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) and IEC (the International Electrotechnical Commission) form the specialized system for worldwide standardization. National bodies that are members of ISO or IEC participate in the development of International Standards through technical committees

Specification Treatment of unwanted bias i classification and regression machine learninf tasks

Scope/ Abstract This document provides mitigation techniques that can be applied throughout the AI system life cycle in order to treat unwanted bias. This document describes how to address unwanted bias in AI systems that use machine learning to conduct classification and regression tasks. This document

Specification Overview of machine learning computing devices

Scope/ Abstract This document surveys machine learning (ML) computing devices, including the following:
— ML computing device terminology and characteristics;
— existing approaches to the setting and use of characteristics for optimizing ML computing device

Full text As an important approach for realizing artificial intelligence (AI), machine learning (ML) has been applied to and has improved productivity in multiple domains (e.g. education, finance, environment protection). ML computing devices can be essential to the development and deployment of many types of AI systems. An ML computing device can have a set of characteristics, including supported datatypes, ML operators,

The big data paradigm is a rapidly changing field with rapidly changing technologies.
The term big data implies datasets that are extensive in volume, velocity, variety and/or variability. The term does not, however, represent data that is simply larger than before, since this has happened on a regular basis for decades. The specific occurrence that has led to the widespread usage of the term big

Specification Big data reference architecture
Part 1: Framework and application process

Scope/ Abstract This document describes the framework of the big data reference architecture and the process for how a user of the document caapply it to their particular problem domain.

Full text The big data paradigm is a rapidly changing field with rapidly changing technologies. This dynamic situation creates two significant issues for potential implementers of the technology. First, there is a lack of standard definitions for terms including the core concept of big data. The second issue is that there is no consistent approach to describe a big data architecture and implementation. The first issue is addressed by

Specification Information technology — Big data reference architecture
Part 2: Use cases and derived requirements

Scope/ Abstract This document provides examples of big data use cases with application domains and technical considerations derived from the contributed use cases.

Full text This document is focuses on forming a community of interest from industry, academia, and government, with the goal of developing a consensus list of big data technical considerations across all stakeholders. This included gathering and understanding various examples of use cases from diversified areas (i.e., application domains). To achieve this goal, the following tasks were done:

Specification Big data reference architecture
Part 3: Reference architecture

Scope/ Abstract This document specifies the big data reference architecture (BDRA). The reference architecture includes concepts and architectural views.
The reference architecture specified in this document defines two architectural viewpoints:

Full text The ISO/IEC 20547 series is intended to provide users with a standardized approach to developing and implementing big data architectures and provide references for approaches. ISO/IEC TR 20547-1 provides users with an overview of the reference architecture framework described in this document and a process for applying that framework in developing an architecture. ISO/IEC TR 20547-2 provides a collection of big

Specification Big data reference architecture
Part 5: Standards roadmap

Scope/ Abstract This document describes big data relevant standards, both in existence and under development, along with priorities for future big data standards development based on gap analysis.

Full text There is broad agreement among commercial, academic, and government leaders about the remarkable potential of big data to spark innovation, fuel commerce, and drive progress. big data is the common term used to describe the deluge of data in today's networked, digitized, sensor-laden, and information-driven world. The availability of vast data resources carries the potential to answer questions previously out of

Specification Framework for Artificial Intelligence (AI) Systems Using Machine Learning (ML)

Scope/ Abstract This document establishes an Artificial Intelligence (AI) and Machine Learning (ML) framework for describing a generic AI system using ML technology. The framework describes the system components and their functions in the AI ecosystem. This document is applicable to all types and

Full text [ ] Artificial intelligence (AI) systems, in general, are engineered systems that generate outputs such as content, forecasts, recommendations or decisions for a given set of human-defined objectives. AI covers a wide range of technologies that reflect different approaches to dealing with these complex problems. ML is a branch of AI that employs computational techniques to enable systems to learn from data or

Specification Overview of AI tasks and functionalities related to natural language processing

Scope/ Abstract This document describes the concept of AI task as applied to natural language. It proposes a landscaping of the AI tasks related to the analysis or generation of natural language, as well as other languagerelated functionalities that are associated to these AI systems. It identifies existing and

Specification Bias in AI systems and AI aided decision making

Scope/ Abstract This document addresses bias in relation to AI systems, especially with regards to AI-aided decision-making. Measurement techniques and methods for assessing bias are described, with the aim to address and treat bias-related vulnerabilities. All AI system lifecycle phases are in scope.

Specification Overview of trustworthiness in AI

Scope/ Abstract This document surveys topics related to trustworthiness in AI systems

Full text Overview of trustworthiness ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) and IEC (the International Electrotechnical Commission) form the specialized system for worldwide standardization. National bodies that are members of ISO or IEC participate in the development of International Standards through technical committees

24029 - 1 : 2021 ISO/IEC TR :(SC 42)

Scope/ Abstract: This document TR provides background about existing methods to assess the robustness of neural networks.

Full text: Foreword ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) and IEC (the International Electrotechnical Commission) form the specialized system for worldwide standardization. National bodies that are members of ISO or IEC participate in the development of International Standards through technical committees

Specification Assessment of the robustness of neural networks - Part 2 Methodology for the use of formal methods

Scope/ Abstract This document provides methodology for the use of formal methods to assess robustness properties of neural networks. The document focuses on how to select, apply and manage formal methods to prove robustness properties.

Full text Foreword
ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) and IEC (the International Electrotechnical Commission) form the specialized system for worldwide standardization. National bodies that are members of ISO or IEC participate in the development of International Standards through technical committees

24029 - 3 : ISO/IEC AWI :(SC 42)

Specification AWI Assessment of the robustness of neural networks - Part 3 Methodology for the use of formal methods

Scope/ Abstract This document AWI provides methodology for the use of statistical methods to assess robustness properties of neural networks. The document focuses on how to select, apply and manage statistical methods to assess robustness properties

24030 - [ ] : 2024 ISO/IEC TR :(SC 42)

Scope/ Abstract: This document TR provides a collection of representative use cases of AI applications in a variety of domains.

Full text: Foreword ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) and IEC (the International Electrotechnical Commission) form the specialized system for worldwide standardization. National bodies that are members of ISO or IEC participate in the development of International Standards through technical committees

Specification Overview of computational approaches for AI systems

Scope/ Abstract This document provides an overview of the state of the art of computational approaches for AI systems, by describing: a) main computational characteristics of AI systems; b) main algorithms and approaches used in AI systems, referencing use cases contained in ISO/IEC TR 24030.

Full text Artificial intelligence (AI)-related products, systems and solutions have become more common in recent years thanks to rapid software and hardware improvements that boost computational performance, data storage capabilities and network bandwidth. The intent of this document is to look at computational methods and approaches within AI systems. Based on ISO/IEC 229891, ISO/IEC 230532 and

Specification Data quality model

Scope/ Abstract This International Standard defines a general data quality model for data retained in a structured format within a computer system.
This International Standard focuses on the quality of the data as part of a computer system and defines quality

Full text Foreword
ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) and IEC (the International Electrotechnical Commission) form the specialized system for worldwide standardization. National bodies that are members of ISO or IEC participate in the development of International Standards through technical committees

Specification Quality-in-use model

Scope/ Abstract This document defines a quality-in-use model composed of three characteristics (which are further subdivided into sub-characteristics) that can influence stakeholders when products or systems are used in a specified context of use. This model is applicable to the entire spectrum of information

Full text Foreword ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) and IEC (the International Electrotechnical Commission) form the specialized system for worldwide standardization. National bodies that are members of ISO or IEC participate in the development of International Standards through technical committees

Specification Measurement of data quality

Scope/ Abstract This International Standard defines data quality measures for quantitatively measuring the data quality in terms of characteristics defined in ISO/IEC 25012.
This International Standard contains the following:
— a basic set of data quality measures for each

Full text Foreword
ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) and IEC (the International Electrotechnical Commission) form the specialized system for worldwide standardization. National bodies that are members of ISO or IEC participate in the development of International Standards through technical committees

Scope/ Abstract TS This document provides guidance for evaluation of artificial intelligence (AI) systems using an AI system quality model.

Full text [ ] Foreword ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) is a worldwide federation of national standards bodies (ISO member bodies). The work of preparing International Standards is normally carried out through ISO technical committees. Each member body interested in a subject for which a technical committee has

Specification Guidelines on the testing of AI-based systems (2020)

Scope/ Abstract This document TR (2020) provides an introduction to AI-based systems. These systems are typically complex (e.g. deep neural nets), are sometimes based on big data, can be poorly specified and can be non-deterministic, which creates new challenges and opportunities for testing them.

Full text Foreword ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) and IEC (the International Electrotechnical Commission) form the specialized system for worldwide standardization. National bodies that are members of ISO or IEC participate in the development of International Standards through technical committees

Specification Testing of AI
Part 2: Overview of testing AI systems

Scope/ Abstract This document describes testing techniques (including those described in ISO/IEC/IEEE 29119-4) applicable for AI systems in the context of the AI system life cycle model stages defined in ISO/IEC 22989. It describes how AI and ML assessment metrics can be used in the context of these

Specification Medical device - Software life cycle processes

Scope/ Abstract IEC This standard defines the life cycle requirements for medical device software. The set of processes, activities, and tasks described in this standard establishes a common framework for medical device software life cycle processes.

Full text FOREWORD 1) The International Electrotechnical Commission (IEC) is a worldwide organization for standardization comprising all national electrotechnical committees (IEC National Committees). The object of IEC is to promote international co-operation on all questions concerning standardization in the electrical
